

WILL BAILEY JUNIOR SENATOR FIGHT? CHARGE

Junior Senator Expected to Take a Hand in Texas Gubernatorial Campaign.

WILL HURT CHANCES OF MR. COLQUITT

(By Horace H. Shelton.)
San Antonio, Tex., June 28.—United States senator Joseph W. Bailey is now en route to his home in Texas. With his arrival the political campaign is expected to grow warmer.
It is well known that Bailey, a candidate for governor, has been denouncing senator Bailey more or less regularly in his speeches, calling upon him to make good certain of the charges which he made in letters recently printed.
The Pointeexter has also been watching with eagerness for the coming of the junior senator. J. H. Colquitt, campaign manager for Pointeexter in southwest Texas, and other leaders have letters from Bailey in which he has stated positively that he will make a few speeches during July in the interest of the Cleburne candidate.
If Mr. Bailey keeps his promise, and there seems to be little doubt but what he will, there will be an added element to the stock of Pointeexter in the political market, for there is no doubt that if Bailey sounds the war cry that a lot of his ardent political and personal friends will line up behind the man of his choice.
Colquitt may lose.
If Bailey is active in Pointeexter's interest there will be a great many of the Bailey adherents who will desert Colquitt. There has been a general belief that really Bailey would just as soon see Colquitt elected as Pointeexter, but if he makes speeches in favor of the latter this conclusion can no longer be drawn.
As senator Bailey is always a fighter, there is little doubt but what he will throw a great deal of ginger into the campaign and probably make a personal fight on both Davidson and Johnson. Both his political enemies. If this is the case, pyrotechnic displays can be expected from now on until the July primaries.
All of the other Texas congressmen are also on their heels home and several of them will take the stump immediately as they have active opposition in their respective districts for re-election. This is especially true of several of the north Texas congressmen.
Congressman Opposed.
Congressman Beall, of the Dallas district, has a very active opponent in the person of Dwight Llewellyn, county attorney. The latter has been making speeches over the district, and has challenged Beall to debate. It is very probable that a series will be arranged and that district will hear campaign oratory every day from now until the primaries.
Congressman Randall, always an opponent of senator Bailey, also has a hard fight on his hands and while Bailey may lend no active assistance to his defeat yet he will not discourage the fight in the least.
The same conditions prevail in congressman Stephens and while he has been detained a few days he will be in Texas about July 1 and will begin shelving the words, explaining to the voters why he should be nominated.
United States senator Culberson is still ill in a sanitarium in the New York mountains. He will, if his health permits, return to Texas in time to be present at the state convention which will renominate him for office.
Congressman Burleson, a close friend of Culberson and in consultation with Mr. Culberson and will probably be the senator's spokesman in case he is unable to reach Texas this summer.

Disappearance of El Oro
Postmaster and Finding Body Leads to Arrest.

SOLDIER GIVES THE EVIDENCE

Torreon, Mexico, June 28.—Felipe Canino jefe politico (mayor) of the town of Nazas, in the state of Durango, has been arrested on a charge of murder and incarcerated in the state penitentiary at Durango. The crime is alleged to have been committed about a year and a half ago in the town of El Oro, at which place Canino was also jefe politico at that time.
Samuel Cerrillo, the postmaster of El Oro, suddenly disappeared and no trace of him could be found. The office remained closed for several days until the postal authorities were advised and sent officers to force an entrance and examine the office. An alleged shortage of $5000 was discovered. Efforts were made to locate the missing man, but his whereabouts could not be discovered.
At the time of the occurrence Ascension Malero was a policeman. He has since been drafted in to the army and it is on his testimony that the arrest of Canino was made.
Malero testifies that the postmaster had attended a serenade on the plaza at night and after the music, was accompanied by two friends to his house where they were followed by three other individuals who waited outside. After about an hour, one of the men who accompanied Cerrillo came out and joined the other three, and all four went direct to the postoffice, which they entered and where they remained for some time. After they came out, they went direct to the house where Cerrillo had been seen to enter in company with his two friends.
The next morning the postoffice remained closed and the postmaster could not be found. It was announced that he was an embezzler, but his body was found some time later.
Malero's testimony was given before the judge at Cuernavaca and immediately after the arrest of Canino was ordered. The case has created a sensation throughout the entire state of Durango as the accused man is well known.

It is now announced that senator Culberson will be able to return to Texas and make several speeches this summer in behalf of his candidacy for endorsement at the primaries July 23 for election as United States senator. The telegram received this morning was addressed to Allison Mayfield railroad commissioner.

The Zeppelin Airship Falls In Trees

Nearly Half a Hundred Passengers Run Into Storm in Air and Fall in Forest.

Dusseldorf, Germany, June 29.—Count Zeppelin's passenger airship Deutschland, the highest developed of all the famous aeroplanes, lies on top of the Teutoburgian forest, pierced with pine tree stems, a mass of deflated silk and twisted aluminum. The 25 persons aboard escaped uninjured, climbing down from the wreck on a rope ladder or the tree tops.

The objective point was Dornum, about 35 miles from Dusseldorf, but a high head wind prevailed and an effort was made to reach Munster, a garrison town, so that a landing might be made on the parade ground with the aid of the soldiers. In the high wind one of the motors refused to work and the other two were not perfect enough to make any headway in the gale. The airship drifted, swaying in the violent gusts and sometimes leaning to an angle of 40 degrees. All the while the engines were at work repairing the disabled motor. When this was done all four screws were driven at their full power, under which, in normal conditions, the airship was capable of attaining a speed of 40 miles an hour. But the helmsman was unable to keep his course and the great craft was swung about at the mercy of the wind. Suddenly he perceived a whirlwind coming and ascended to a height of nearly 4000 feet to avoid the worst of it. With the whirlwind came a heavy downpour of rain. After half an hour the Deutschland sank rapidly, having lost much gas in the high altitude, and dragged along the top of the dense forest. A heavy branch of a tree broke through the flood of the cabin amidst the shrieking of the guests to the floor. Other branches ripped through the gas compartments and the whole great structure settled down 30 or 40 feet from the ground.

HARVARD REUNION

J. P. Morgan, Gov. Hughes and Other Notables Are Also There.
Cambridge, Mass., June 29.—Theodore Roosevelt, Harvard '80, today participated with his fellow classmates of '80 in celebration of the 30th anniversary of his graduation.
With Col. Roosevelt at Harvard where also governor Hughes, both of whom were to be given honorary degrees.
For a brief period also president Taft was in Cambridge as the train on which he was journeying rambled through a section of the university town.

MINACA WROUGHT UP COERCION CHARGED IN VOTING OVER THE ELECTION

An American traveling man arriving here from Minaca, a small town in northern Chihuahua, gives what he says is probably a fair sample of the way the voting was conducted throughout that country last Sunday.
He calls the election a farce in every respect and in discussing the affair detailing the "election" and circumstances attending it, he said:

The son of the president of the town put himself up as a candidate for elector, formed the election board with his store clerks and corral men and, with policemen at the door, gave everyone to understand that if they were not Diaz men they had better keep away. He ran in a few bumps and peons voted them, but 34 of the best Mexican electors of the town went to him in a body and protested, refused to vote and wired the governor of the state in regard to the high handed proceedings, although I am sure they did not differ from those in hundreds of other towns in the Mexican republic on the same day. No wonder the Mexican dispatches announce that the election of Diaz was overwhelming.

THREE DROWN IN BAY AT ANNAPOLIS
Two Cadets and Daughter-in-law of Academy Commandant Victims.

Annapolis, Md., June 29.—The bodies of midshipman S. M. Nason and G. E. Thomas and Mrs. Joseph Bowyer, who left the naval academy for a sail on the bay yesterday, were recovered this morning near the place where the boat was found anchored.
It is supposed the party was drowned while bathing, as Mrs. Bowyer was dressed in a bathing suit and a long cloak.
Nason was a poor swimmer but Thomas could swim well, and it is presumed the latter met death while trying to save the other two.
Mrs. Bowyer's husband was Julius Bowyer, son of the commandant of the academy, who died two years ago.

INTERVIEW IN NICARAGUA
Washington, D. C., June 29.—Intervention in the Nicaraguan situation came to the fore again when American consul Moffat at Bluefields telegraphed the state department that a petition of 500 signatures had been presented to Gen. Estrada asking that the United States intervene. The department has heard nothing from Gen. Estrada himself.

WASHINGTON FEELS A BIG QUAKE
Washington, D. C., June 29.—An earthquake, apparently a great distance from Washington, was recorded at Georgetown university this morning.

The feeling in the town I refer to is intense, but controlled. They say if Diaz wants a French commune he can have it.
"The jefe politico of the district has told the president of the town that he approved of the proceedings in the election referred to and said it was in accordance with higher orders."
The protesting committee will see the governor and if they fail to get justice, they will publish in the independent press just what took place."

TAFT REACHES THE SUMMER CAPITAL
President Is Received With No Demonstration, at Own Request.

Beverly, Mass., June 29.—President Taft arrived at his summer home at 9:50 o'clock this morning.
When the president arrived his only public greeting was from the Stars and Stripes, which will be raised on all public buildings at sunrise each day during his stay here.

The city would have gladly shown its loyal spirit, but both last year and this, he specifically requested that his arrival be entirely informal.
Mrs. Taft and the other members of the family met him at the station.
The right name of the Italian laborer who was injured by Robert Taft's automobile Monday was learned when chief of police W. A. Ferguson and attorney Eugene B. Jackson, representing the president, visited the hospital.
The man said his name was Michael Di Grigardio; that he is married and has a wife and one child in Italy. He probably will recover. He said that in crossing the street he became confused and blundered in front of the automobile.
President Taft and Col. Roosevelt will meet at Burgess Point tomorrow. Whether governor Hughes, who is at Cambridge today for the Harvard commencement exercises, will participate is not certain.

TAFT WEARS RED TIE
Washington, D. C., June 29.—President Taft left here Tuesday to spend the next three or four months at Beverly, Mass., the summer capital of the United States.

Upon the arrival of the warrant in Socorro and its deposit by the clerk, there will be no further obstacle to the project.

Are Cranks Best People To Deal With?

Many Merchants Say They Are

By T. G. Turner

"God send me the cranks," once prayed a wise business man. And according to a half dozen El Paso merchants, picked at random from as many branches of retail trade, that man was right, perfectly logical, unquestionably wise.

There was a man who stepped into a cigar store. "Give me a 5 cent cigar," he said, throwing the nickel on the counter. A few minutes later he met a friend on the street. "Gee," he exclaimed, "this is a rotten cigar old Tobaccosell sold me."

Now, that man had no right to kick. In the first place he didn't know what he wanted, wasn't a particular man, wasn't a crank, if you will. Then he got just what he deserved, a "bum" cigar. And as a last point, he didn't go back to Mr. Tobaccosell and say: "That cigar was rotten."

Instead he complained to a friend, who didn't know what the tobacco man knew, that Mr. Smoker doesn't know tobacco from alfalfa.

There you are in a nutshell. That man wasn't a kicker and wasn't a crank. Of course there are all varieties of kickers and cranks, and the man who is particular should not be called a crank; he who complains justly should not be cursed as a kicker. But they are.

This branch of commercial psychology should interest merchant and consumer alike, for it touches on the very epitome of satisfaction to both buyer and seller. But there is a great diversity of opinion about it, especially regarding the sex difference. Many merchants hold that all women are cranks, that the man seldom knows how to shop, and so on and so forth.

Cranks the Best Kind.
"I don't call them cranks," said A. Schwartz, of the Popular Dry Goods company. "No, indeed, not cranks.

RATES CUT TO WESTERN POINTS IS SHOT AT VAN HORN

Railroad Commission Finds
For the Shippers in Every Instance of Complaint.

ARIZONA BENEFITS
BY ONE REDUCTION

Washington, D. C., June 29.—Decisions were handed down today by the interstate commerce commission in what is popularly known as the Pacific coast cases, affecting freight rates on all transcontinental lines operating between the Atlantic and Pacific.

The cases were heard last autumn by the commission on its six weeks' trip to the Pacific coast and intermountain territory.

The cases are of immense importance, not only to the railroads, but to the shipping public, and the commission has prepared its opinions with great care.

In every instance, the reductions in the rates complained of were made and in some instances they amounted to nearly 50 percent.

The famous "back haul" rates applying to Spokane, Reno and other interior points, were among the cases decided. The Spokane rate case has been before the commission in some form for several years.

The following cases were decided: Spokane rate case: Rates "unreasonable and excessive," just and reasonable rates established.

Reno case: Applying to class and commodity rates, Sacramento to points between Reno and Coalinga, Utah, reasonable rates prescribed.

Portland "back haul" case: Rates from Seattle, Tacoma and Portland to points in Washington, Oregon and Idaho declared unreasonable. Reduction of 20 percent ordered.

Class freight rates from eastern points to Phoenix, Ariz.: Reductions of approximately 30 percent ordered.

Class rates eastern defined "territory to Nevada points: Materially lower rates ordered.

Mississippi and Missouri river transfer points to Utah common points: Reduction of 15 percent ordered.

Railroads Want Rehearing
Washington, D. C., June 29.—A petition for a rehearing was filed in the supreme court of the United States today by the railroads involved in the Missouri river rate case.

INSURANCE COMPANIES WILL NOT QUIT STATE
Austin, Tex., June 29.—According to a statement made this morning by commissioner Hawkins, of the department of insurance and banking, no fire insurance company has given notice of intention to leave the state following the reduction of rates by the fire rating board. The board is now harmonious.

Hawkins himself wrote the order for the reduction and the other members concurred.

Is Brought to El Paso For Treatment and D. H. Snyder Placed Under Arrest.

INJURED MAN IS SHOT THREE TIMES

Plateau, Texas, June 29.—Don McCarrall was shot and it is thought fatally injured about 7 o'clock this morning, a short distance south of Van Horn. D. H. Snyder, a prominent ranchman, is under arrest. McCarrall was shot three times.

Van Horn, Texas, June 29.—D. H. Snyder, Jr., a prominent ranchman, who lives in Colorado City, but owns a ranch about 20 miles north of this place, at 7 o'clock this morning shot Don McCarrall three times. The injured man was taken to El Paso on the T. & P.

The shooting occurred in a Mexican house, where Snyder and five other men were awaiting breakfast, when McCarrall and a Mexican, Nicho Quintana, went down to this house. As they entered McCarrall picked up a door prop or rasp, about 18 inches long, and made threats, it is said. Then the shooting started.

The shooting started seemingly through fun the day before. Snyder had been keeping out of McCarrall's way and apparently was trying to avoid any trouble.

Examining trial has been waived, awaiting the action of the grand jury, and Snyder will be taken to El Paso tomorrow.

Don McCarrall, who was shot by D. H. Snyder at Van Horn Wednesday morning at 7 o'clock, was brought to El Paso on the Texas & Pacific train Wednesday, accompanied by Dr. U. G. Dyer, of Van Horn, and conveyed to the county hospital, where, according to Dr. Dyer, an operation will be made.

McCarrall was only shot twice, one of the three bullets fired, going wild, one bullet pierced the right side about three inches to the right of the median line and coming out on the left side. The other bullet pierced the right arm.

When the doctor reached the side of the wounded man, he said that he had been shot three times, but only two wounds, the one in the side and one in the arm, were found. The side wound is of a serious nature and may prove fatal, as the bullet ploughed its way through the intestines. An operation is necessary, said the doctor, and complications are feared.

McCarrall occupied a berth on the train and, being a man of unusual size, was forced to lie in a cramped position all the way. On arrival here he was still dressed in the working clothes of a well driller, which were blood soaked in the vicinity of the wounds. His voice came weak and faint as he told of the difficulty he had with Snyder.

All that McCarrall would say when first questioned, was that the trouble was "a little row."

Doctor Tells of Trouble.
"The trouble came about from an insignificant incident," said Dr. Dyer, who accompanied McCarrall to this city. "Tuesday afternoon McCarrall and Snyder were playing, catching each other by the seat of the trousers and pushing, and McCarrall must have pushed."

BIDS ARE ASKED FOR RAILROAD TO THE DAM

Washington, D. C., June 29.—Initial steps in the preliminary work in connection with the construction of the Elephant Butte dam of the Rio Grande irrigation project have been taken by the secretary of the interior, who has asked for proposals for building a road bed, bridges and culverts for a branch railway from the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe line at a point between Engle and Cutter, N. M., to the Engle dam site near Elephant Butte, a distance of about 1.5 miles.

The work involves the excavation of about 14,000 cubic yards of earth and 55,000 cubic yards of rock, and the placing of approximately 400,000 feet of timber. The cost is estimated at $65,000. The Engle dam when completed will create the largest artificial lake in the world and will irrigate 180,000 acres of land in Mexico, New Mexico, and Texas.

Herald Surpassed By None

Chicago, Ill., June 24, 1910.

Editor El Paso Herald:
I desire through you to express to the Peterman-Lansden Realty company of Ysleta, Texas, my extreme appreciation of their kindness in mailing me your most valuable paper.

We are heavily interested in land over in your section of the country and are much interested in the development of that great southwestern country.

I read with pleasure a great many of the newspapers published in the west, but I beg to assure you that I know of no snappier, breezier and newer newspaper than the El Paso Herald and I anxiously await its daily arrival to peruse its plainly headed columns.

To say that I appreciate the news therein is putting it mildly and, as a medium of following the developments of your city and that section of the country, I think it is surpassed by none.

Yours very truly,

$10,000 FIRE AT EL PASO DAIRY PLANT

Local ways are predicting a shortage in the milk crop. The pumping plant and the water tanks at the El Paso dairy, burned last Friday morning, cost postmaster J. A. Smith says it is no joke to have a $10,000 fire loss in addition to the partial shutting down of his big dairy down the valley because of the fire.

Catching in the boiler room of the dairy plant, the fire, which was discovered about 2:30 a. m., spread to the power house, where the electric and gasoline engine equipment for furnishing light and power to the dairy was housed. The dynamo was ruined and will have to be remounted and rebuilt before they can again be used. The gasoline engines were not so badly damaged and a force of mechanics are at work trying to get them repaired and in running order again as soon as possible. One of the heaviest losses was to the large quantity of tools and machinery in the power house.

From the power plant, the fire spread to a metal water tank which was destroyed. The employees of the dairy fought the fire until it was extinguished, using a chemical engine which is part of the equipment of the dairy, and the old fashioned method of putting out fires. In this way the flames were prevented from spreading to the hay barns and cow barns, where the large herd of cows are kept.

Mr. Smith says he is unable to estimate accurately the loss to the dairy, as the extent of the damage to the machinery, has not yet been determined. But he fixes the amount of the losses at between $7500 and $10,000. The fire is thought to have caught in corner of the boiler house, where a quantity of coal had been stored. Cinders containing live coals are thought to have ignited this coal pile and, after smoldering all night, the heat set fire to the boiler house walls and spread to the power house.

Water for the dairy stock is being hauled to the dairy from a neighboring well until the pumps can be repaired.

HYDE REFUSED NEW TRIAL

Kansas City, Mo., June 29.—Dr. B. C. Hyde, convicted May 16 on a charge of poisoning Col. Thomas Swope, a millionaire philanthropist, was denied a new trial by Judge Latham in the criminal court this morning.

A motion for arrest of judgment was immediately filed and the court set next Tuesday as the time for arguing the point. When this is disposed of the matter of an appeal to the supreme court and a motion for the release of Dr. Hyde on bond will be taken up.

Dr. Hyde on bond will be taken up.
